

Adjunct Faculty Approval Policy

Adjunct faculty are important contributors to the mission of the College of Business. Adjunct appointments may be discrete or continuing. In the first case, an adjunct faculty member may be appointed temporarily to meet departmental needs for a specific period of time. In the second case, an adjunct faculty member may be appointed one or more semesters each year to teach an individual course for which s/he has unique qualifications. In either case, adjunct faculty are expected to meet both SACS and AACSB criteria for academic preparation and continuing intellectual development. Each department/school has developed a process for adjunct faculty approval by department faculty.
