Stigma Towards Persons with Dual Diagnosis of Substance Use Disorder and Mental Health

Dr. Tal Araten-Bergman of La-Trobe University in Melbourne, Australia and I are studying stigma towards persons with dual diagnosis of substance use disorders and mental health. Our research explores prejudices, stereotypes, and discriminatory behaviors towards persons with dual diagnosis among various populations (including those working in healthcare) in order to inform policy and contribute to the development of novel interventions to enhance the social inclusion and quality of life of persons with dual diagnosis.
