Course Description:
ECO 2013 introduces students to basic economic terminology, definitions and measurements of macroeconomic data, simple macroeconomic models, fiscal and monetary policy, and international macroeconomic linkages.

Prerequisite:
None

Required Textbook:
Aplia Online Version—N. Gregory Mankiw, Principles of Microeconomics, 6th edition, published by Thomson South-Western (see below for how to access Aplia and the online text)

• See me if you have questions about other editions

Course Topics
This course will cover the following areas:

• Gross Domestic Product (GDP) and it’s calculation
• Aggregate consumption
• Investment, interest rates, and the money supply
• Government spending
• Exchange rates and net exports
Course Objectives:
By the end of this course students will be expected to:
• Understand key elements of macroeconomic theory,
• Demonstrate proficiency in using graphs to illustrate economic principles, and
• Use macroeconomic theory to evaluate current events.

Canvas Use
The class syllabus is posted in Canvas, an online learning course management system. Canvas will only be used to post announcements for the class and to post discussions or article that may be of use or interest to the class.

Computer Laptop Use
USFSM requires all students to have laptop computers that can be brought with them to class. For this class, students are invited to bring their laptop whenever they wish, but it is not required during lecture.

Grading Policy:
There will be four exams consisting of 25 multiple choice questions and two short answer questions. The three highest test scores will count towards your grade, with the lowest of the four dropped and the other three averaged together. The test average will constitute 84% of the final grade, with the final 16% made up of the average on the homework. The course grade will be calculated giving the following weights to each requirement:

Exam 1: 28%
Exam 2: 28%
Exam 3: 28%
Homework: 16%

For example, if you scored 100, 95, 90, and 67 on the four tests, your test average would be a 95 (the 67 is dropped and the other three highest average to a 95). Your homework grade will be posted on the Aplia website and is updated as assignments are turned in. Say your final average is 80% on the homework. Your final grade is then: (.84*95) + (.16*80) = 92.6, or an A-.

Grades will be assigned on a ten-point scale in which 100-97 is an A+, 96-93 is an A, 93-90 is an A-, 89-87 is a B+, 86-83 is a B, 82-80 is a B-, 79-77 C+, 76-73 C, 72-70 C-, 69-67 D+, 66-63 D, 62-60 D-, and any score below 60 is an F.

Homework
To do the homework, you will need Aplia. All homework, along with the text, will be online through Aplia. Dates will be announced in class and online. Homework will generally consist of 10 to 15 multiple choice and short answer questions. Late homework will not be accepted unless unusual circumstances arise.

Test and Test Make-Up Policy
Generally, I do not give make-up tests if you miss one. If, for some reason, you are unable to take a test due to extreme extenuating circumstances or if you have a university excused absence, the test must be made up within one week of the original test date. All exceptions must be pre-approved. For integrity, the make-up test will not be exactly the same as the one given in class, but will be similar in material covered and difficulty.
